Forty-nine years, 38 of them here at WSCEC, occupied with such various responsibilities as critic teacher, methods instructor, Dean of Women, advisor for National Youth Administration and Kappa Delta Pi ended this spring with the retirement of Miss Laura Sutherland, history professor on our campus, who has taught more than 4,500 students the importance of a sound educational background.

Miss Sutherland, who explains "teaching history as a crusade," was inspired to become a teacher as a young girl by her mother. It was largely through the latter's efforts that kept Miss Sutherland from becoming a Latin teacher, explaining, "You have to work to be a history teacher." — This is just what Miss Sutherland has done.

It was largely through her efforts that student government, dormitories, Sigma Gamma Zeta, Sigma Pi Kappa, and Kappa Delta Pi were organized on the Eau Claire campus. Her latest accomplishment was the consideration for admittance of Eau Claire by the American Association of University Women.

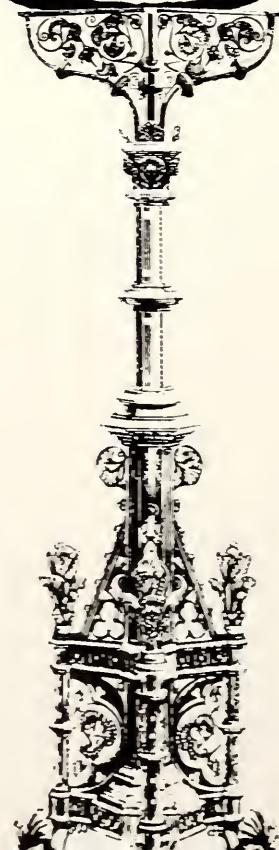

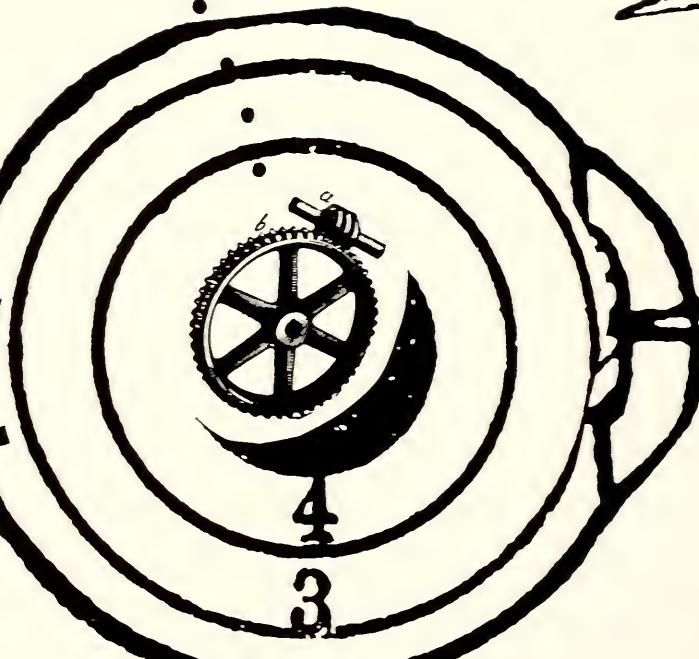

Watching the campus grow from a position when "we scarcely had chairs to sit on," to its present modern capacity, Miss Sutherland describes it as one of the finest in the country.

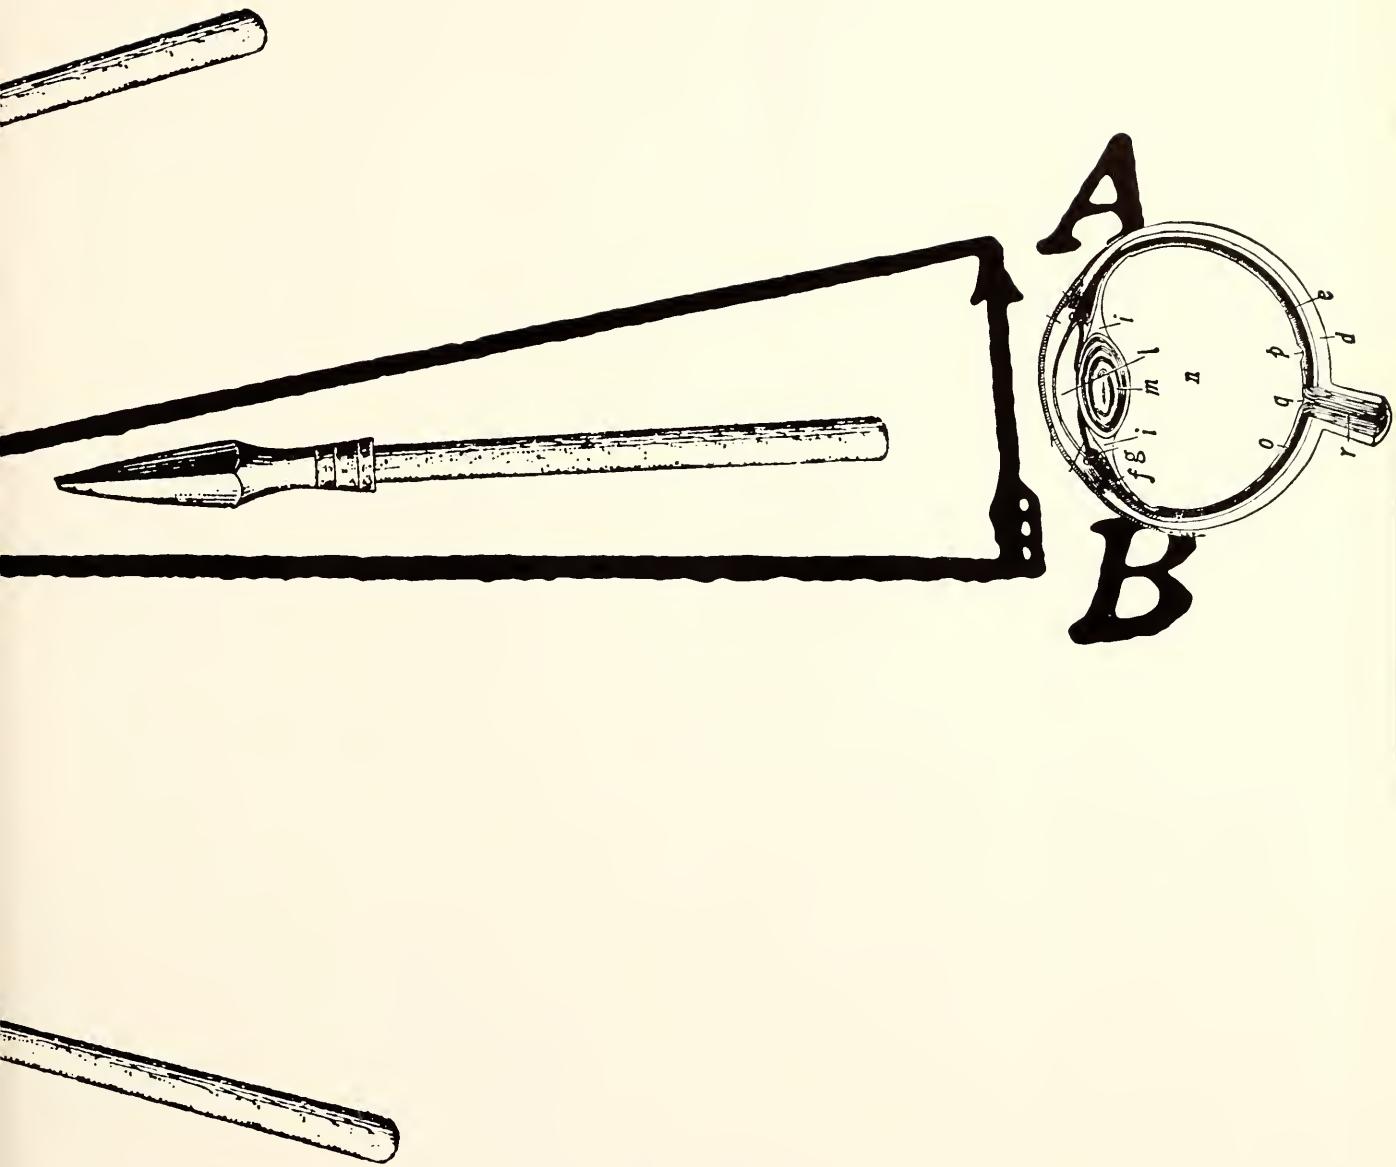

Her words concerning college academic life, "Only excellence is what's needed. I cannot stress enough the importance of grinding toil and study for achievement and success in anything," may well be reversed to apply to herself — an educator, who after almost a half century of achievement on our campus, will retire this year.

It is to her that we respectfully dedicate the 1959 Periscope.

"Another Service Of A. P. O."

"Where did they dig them up?" students gasp as they crowd around the bulletin board to see the "ugly man" candidates, one of whom will be chosen as the ugly man of the year. The proceeds from this A.P.O. sponsored activity are donated to some worthy charity. In addition to the Ugly Man's Dance, A.P.O. sponsors social activities that include the Harvest Dance and an annual dinner dance.

Christmas food collection for the needy.

Services provided by Alpha Phi Omega include the driver-rider service, refuse cans for cigarette butts, college direction signs on highways, and aid with bloodmobile registration. Alpha Phi Omega is this year celebrating its tenth year on campus.

The white blazer . . . the gold lamp pin . . . the green and white emblem — all tell you she's a DZ. Delta Zeta national sorority provides a year-long program for its members. The forty-eight members, under the counsel of Miss Inez Sparks, specialize in school service.

The DZ's annually sponsor the first dance of the fall semester, a car wash before the Prom, a Faculty-Tea, a Mother-Daughter Tea, and numerous other projects.

"Will they or won't they go national?" This was the big question concerning Eta Phi this year. The local social fraternity, the oldest such group on campus, is an inactive chapter of Delta Kappa national. There was some discussion last spring as to whether they would become reinstated. At that time, the president issued a statement that they would be reactivated by fall.

The men of Eta Phi won the trophy in WSC's first annual Greek Week last April. They sponsor the Sky-Line Dance annually.

Gamma Sigma Sigma

"The girls in blue" are new on campus this year. Organized last fall, Gamma Sigma Sigma, social-service sorority, aims at becoming national as soon as possible.

This year the girls worked with the men of APO, on such projects as the blood bank and the driver-rider service. They also sold fruitcakes and jewelry at Christmas time. A much-publicized tea for Alice in Dairy-land was also included on their agenda.

Phi Sigma Epsilon

“Lumberjack jump — required convocation!” No doubt about it — this is a publicity-minded Phi Sig drumming up business for the first dance of the Fall semester. Held on the tennis courts, this affair presents a contrast with the fraternity’s annual Valentine dance. The Phi Sigs select a Queen of Hearts whose identity is kept a secret until her crowning at the dance. The men on campus belong to Phi Beta Chapter of the national organization.

Overnight holly sprouts on classroom doors, Santa peers from a Blugold window — Sigma Pi has been busy with its red and green paint. Decorating the school for Christmas is an annual Sigma Pi project. Another yearly Sigma Pi project is the traditional winter formal. This year "Heavenly Holiday." Near Halloween the girls sponsor a costume party for children from the McDonough School.

Sigma Pi Kappa is a local social sorority. This fall sixteen new pledges, disguised as hula dancers, were informally initiated. Formal initiation was held early in December.

Beta Delta Chapter of the Sigma Tau Gamma national fraternity was newly formed on the campus this year. Under the guidance of the organization's national president, Warren Barberg of Eau Claire, the group soon grew to forty-one members.

The colony undertook a slate of pledge lessons and activities. Sigma Tau Gamma brought Doc Evans to the campus for a Dixieland concert in January.

Thirty-one charter members were initiated by the Stout Chapter in February. Since then, the fraternity has initiated another pledge class, bringing their strength to approximately fifty members. They have chosen Mr. DeLoyd Sterz for their advisor.

Passersby sometimes take a second look as they see college students streaming into the Buffington Home. There the Canterbury Club holds its monthly corporate communions and its bi-monthly meetings. For variety, meetings are held at the homes of various community church members. At different times during the year, the group meets with the Canterbury Clubs from River Falls and from Menomonie. At Christmas time, the organization yearly sponsors a party at the Northern Colony.

Seated: K. Mortensen, Program Chairman; B. LeMay, Secretary. Standing: B. Wogahn, Vice-President; J. Neste, President.

Devotions are led by Brynda LeMay at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Harold Conlon.

Rev. Cizek, Advisor of Gamma Delta talks over events for the coming year with officers of the organization.

Gamma Delta

Gamma Delta this year took part in the Winter Camp in February, the Presidents' conference in March, the Gamma Delta Lakes Region Fall Convention, and concluded with a student-parent picnic.

Gamma Delta is open to all Lutheran Students who belong to the Missouri or Wisconsin Synod. The purpose of the organization is to afford an opportunity to develop friendships among students of a common faith.

The United Student Fellowship on the Eau Claire campus is a union of Congregational-Christian, Presbyterian and Evangelical and Reformed students affiliated with the national USF. Its purpose is to provide a Christian basis for student life through a varied program of school activities, worship and study. This includes regular dinner meetings, fireside discussions, a Lenten study series, a weekend spring retreat, the traditional Homecoming reunion, Halloween and Christmas parties.

“Coats between courses” could have been the theme for this year’s annual Wesley Progressive Supper. Local citizens invited Wesley Fellowship members to their homes where they enjoyed a prolonged five course meal.

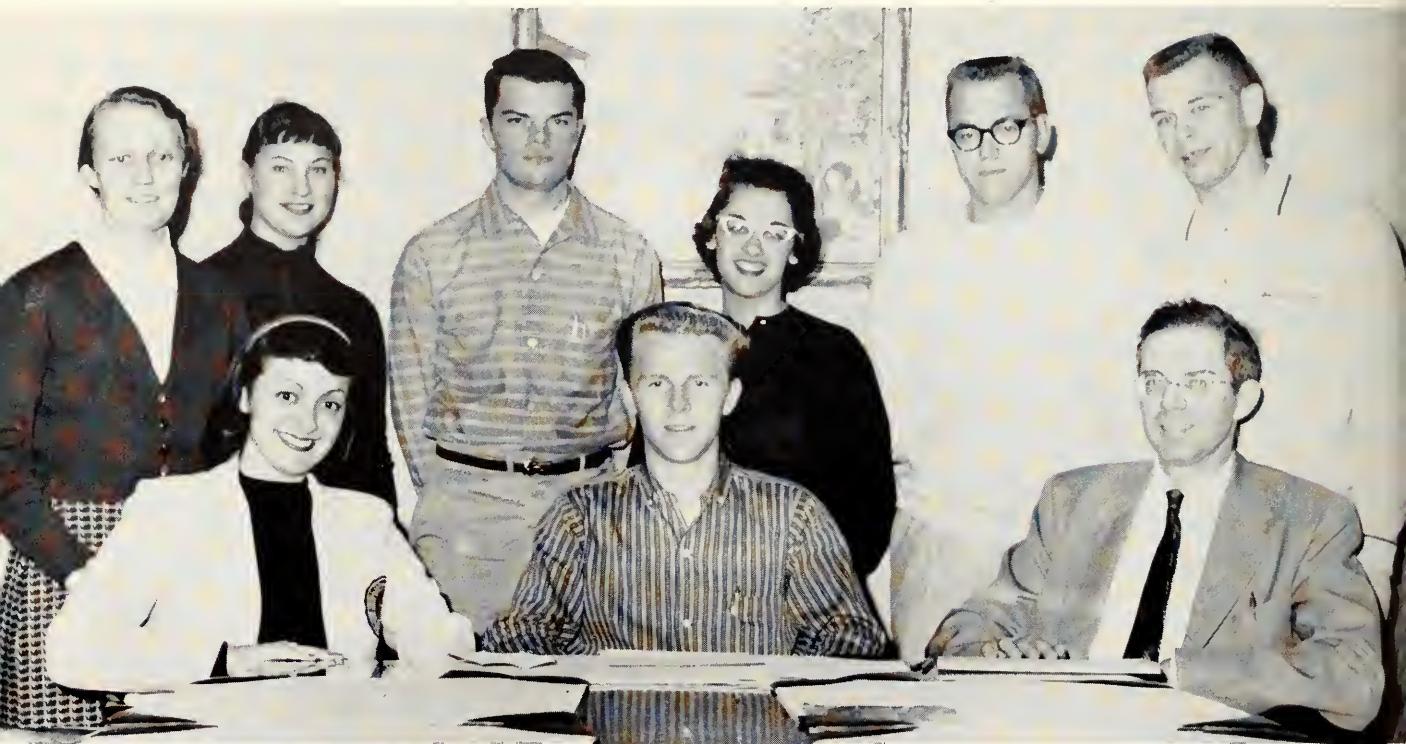

In addition, members participated in a mock U.N. meeting held in LaCrosse, a Christmas caroling party, and numerous supper meetings.

The distinction of being the first club organized on the Eau Claire campus belongs to the Primary Club. All students enrolled in lower elementary education are eligible for membership in the organization, which at present is composed of about forty members. The purpose of the Primary Club is to further both the social and professional interests of its members. Regular meetings are enlivened by potluck suppers, slides, and speakers.

Students seldom come late to the French Club for fear of missing their favorite part of the meeting — the singing of the French National anthem. The rest of the program consists of a French play given by the students, games, music, and refreshments. Included among the plays given this year were “Prenez Garde a la Peinture,” “Dans un Ascenseur,” and “L’Anglais Tel Qu’on le Parle.”

The aims of the International Relations Club are to increase the members’ appreciation of foreign life, geography, and politics by means of slide programs, speeches, and inter-college conferences.

Re-Organize To Organize

Organization Representatives Council

The Organization Representatives Council — better known as ORC — is comprised of one representative from every student organization on campus. Although ORC has not been a strong group in the past, they have re-organized and drafted a new constitution this year. ORC will eventually work hand in hand with Student Government, handling such details as scheduling activities, encouraging organizations to participate in school functions, and instigate new student projects.

The 1958 Blugold football team finished an up and down season with a 3-3 Wisconsin College Conference record, good for fifth place in the league, and a 3-5 overall record. After losing two non-conference games, Eau Claire, under the direction of head coach Jim Rice and assistant coach Ade Olson, won their first three conference games, only to lose the last two and drop out of title contention.

The highlight of the season was the naming of juniors Ted Devine and Bill Perkins and senior Rog Hedrington to the WCC all-conference team.

The Blugold's first two losses came at the hands of a strong St. Norbert team, 30-14, and Oshkosh squeezed past the Ricemen in their home opener, 7-6.

Eau Claire came back with a 27-6 walloping of Stout in both teams' WCC opener, and followed the win the next week with a 12-8 upset of LaCrosse, the pre-season favorite for the conference title.

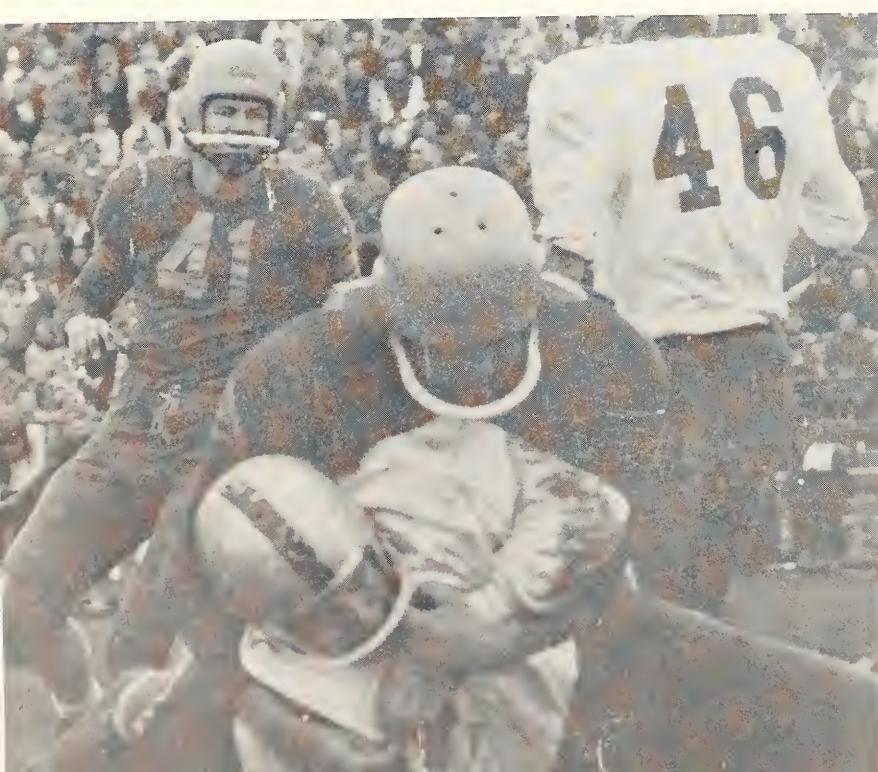

Rog Hedrington, star Blugold tackle and extra point kicker, proved to be the hero in the next contest. Hedrington split the uprights with a field goal as the gun sounded at Superior to give his team a 17-14 victory and their third straight conference win.

Tied for first place in the WCC and with a possible conference title on the line, the Blugolds returned home to face the un-beaten River Falls Falcons. Eau Claire looked like champions during the first half, holding the Falcons to no yardage and picked up a TD to lead at halftime, 6-0.

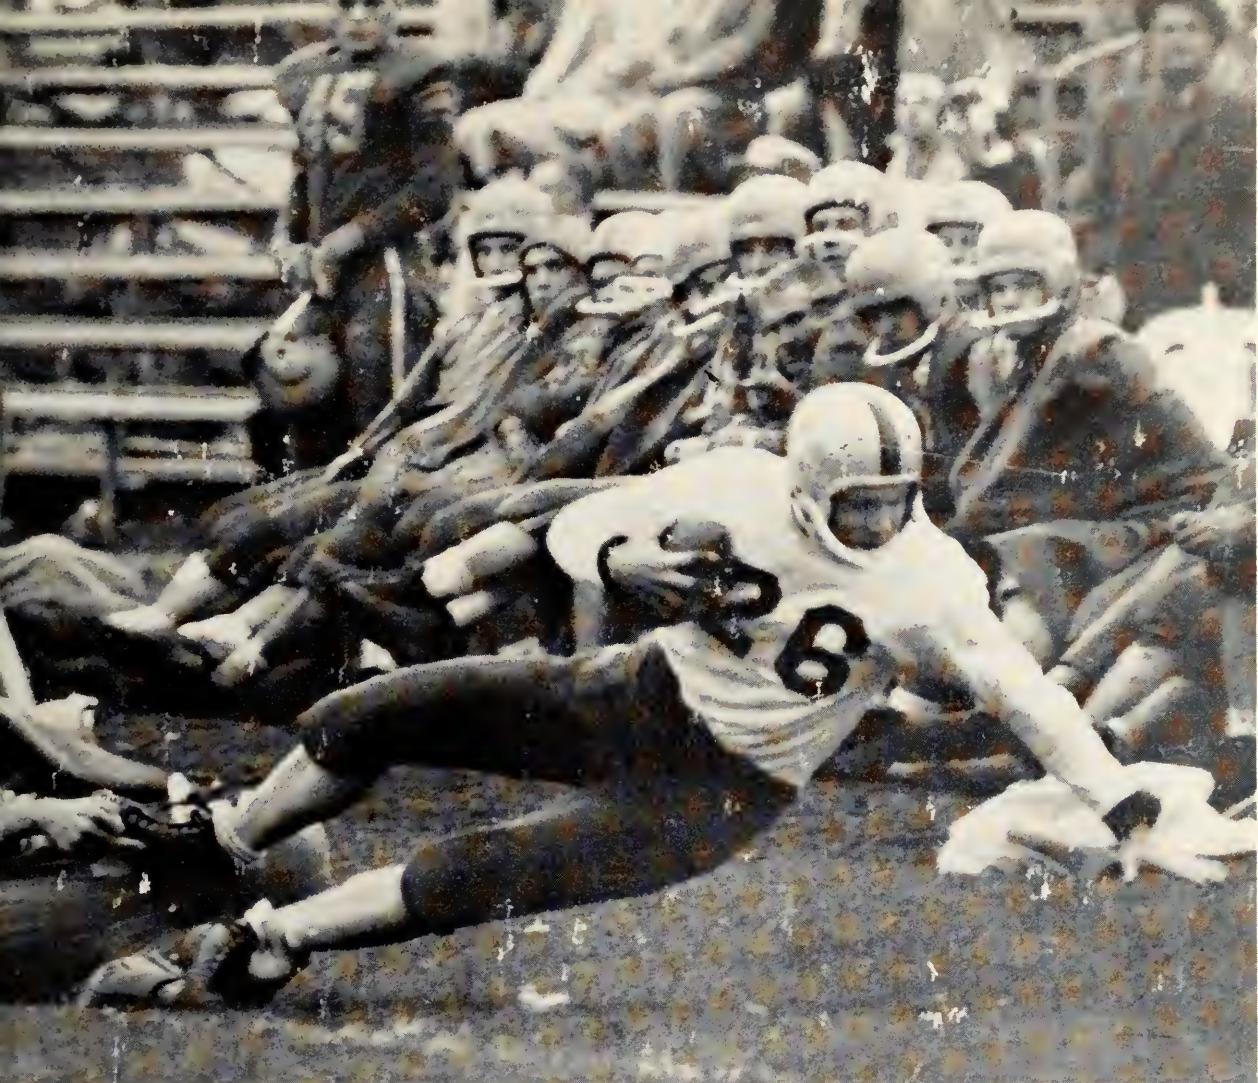

However, lack of depth began to show in the second half, as River Falls began to move, piling up a 27-6 final.

Eau Claire, still nursing title hopes, traveled to Stevens Point, the following week, for their next to last game. However, hampered by the loss of five regulars through injury and ineligibility the Blugolds went down to defeat at the hands of the team which finished second in the WCC, 34-8.

The season came to a disastrous end with a 70-0 whipping by Whitewater.

*Season
Three On Conference Team*

Only five seniors will be gone for next year's team. Co-captains Rog Hedrington and Pete Adler, Tom Nadeau, Chet Moore, and Will Klatt will be lost through graduation.

Hedrington, besides being a rugged all-conference tackle, was valuable as a place kicker, tallying three extra points and winning the Superior game with a field goal.

Adler, although seeing only limited action in the last half of the season, was the leading Blugold scorer. He tallied 26 points on four touchdowns and an extra point pass reception.

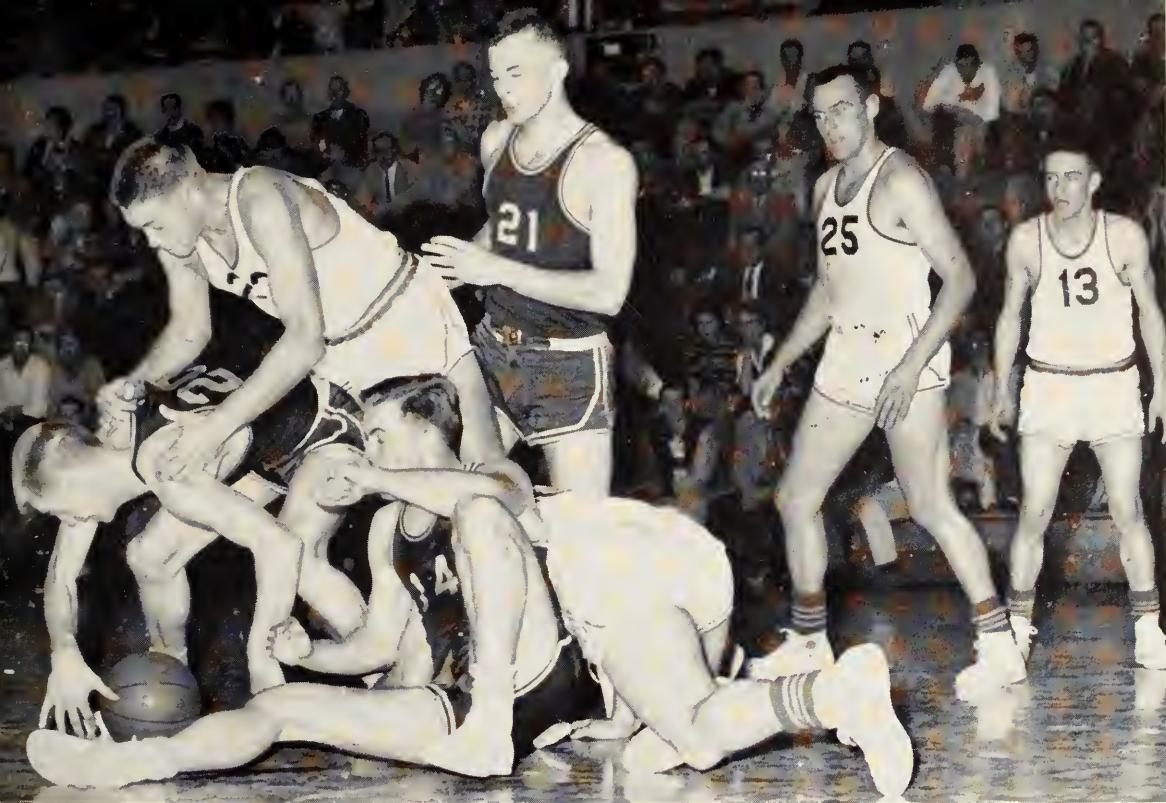

Nadeau, hampered by injuries most of the season, still saw a lot of action, mostly on defense. He was a defensive starter on the 1957 team.

Moore came along in the latter half of the season and played quite regularly.

Klatt, a second stringer at the beginning of the season, came on to become one of the best centers in the league, especially on defense.

The Blugolds finished their basketball season with a 12-9 overall record and a 8-4 conference mark, good for a third place tie with LaCrosse. Jon Wensel, senior forward, was high man with 404 points for the year and was also named to the All-Conference team.

Masters In Overtime

Wensel's output and Johnson's 209 counters placed them among the all time scoring leaders at Eau Claire. Johnson is in a tie for seventh place with Leon Etten at 1035 points, and Wensel holds down the number eight position with 831 points.

Coach Bill Zorn kept his string of overtime wins intact with four straight extra period wins during the season. Lincoln University, Stevens Point, and River Falls fell to defeat during season play and then Superior, who had whipped the Blugolds by 20 points in an earlier meeting, fell under the Zorn hex in the season finale.

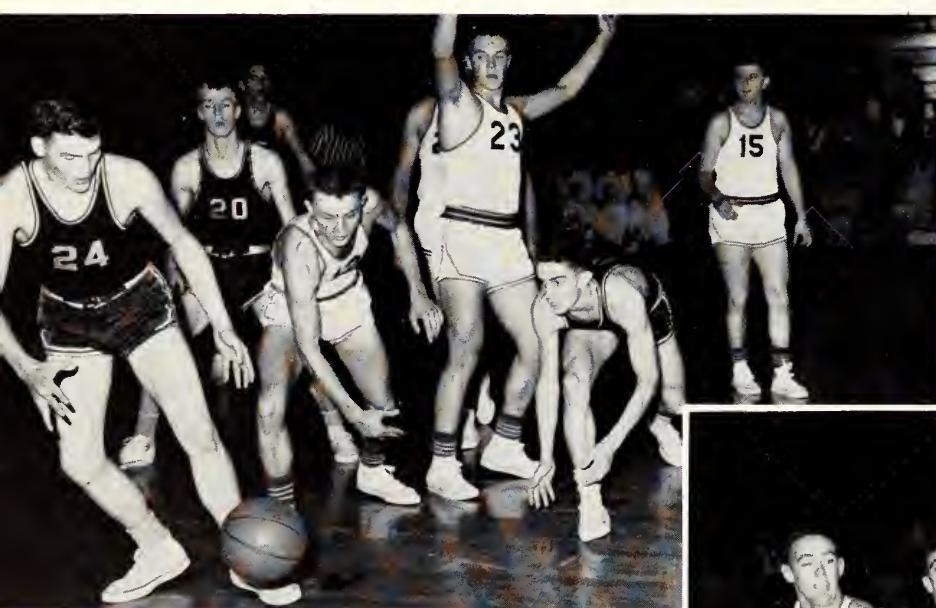

In the second to the last game, Eau Claire fell to defeat for the second time of the season to the St. Norbert team. A night lay-up in the final three seconds handed them the win after Jim Bade had given EC a one-point lead with two free throws.

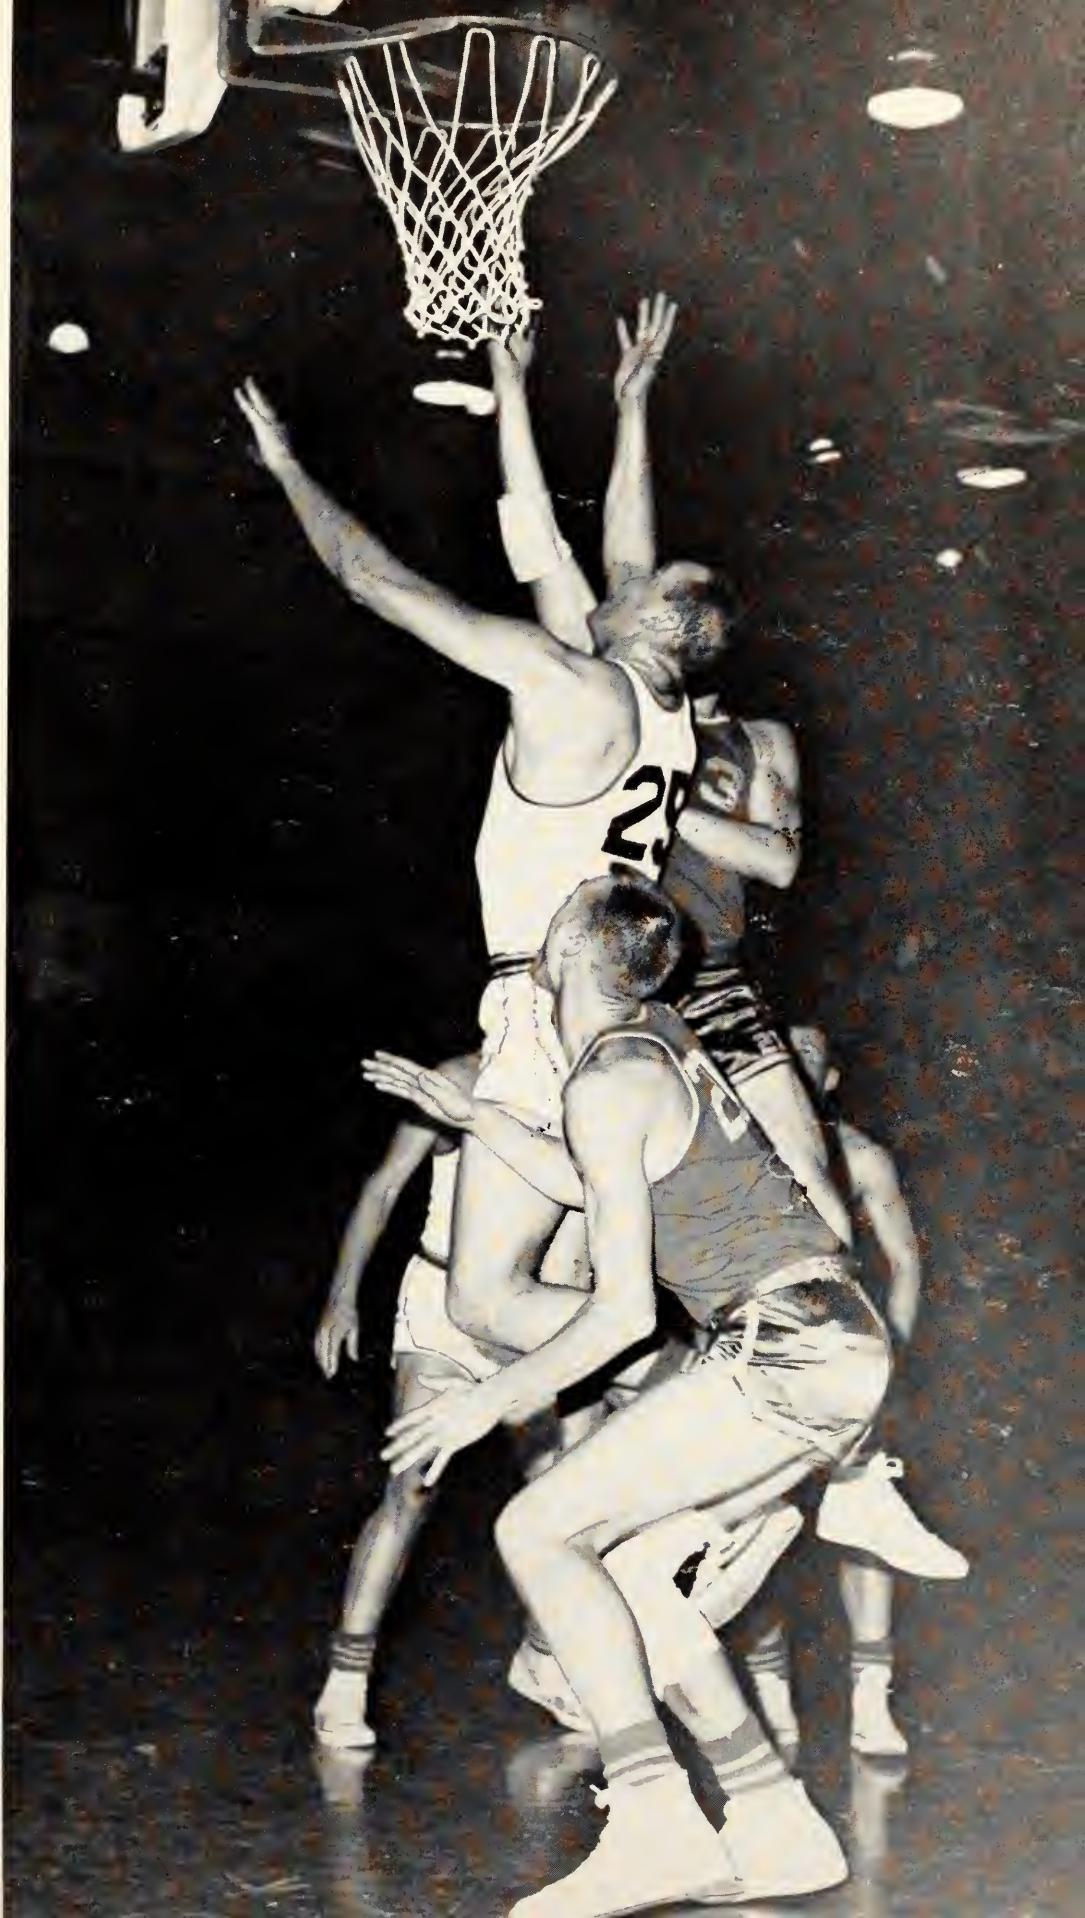

LaCrosse was the only conference foe to drop the Blugolds twice during the season. On the other hand, the Zornmen whipped both River Falls and Stout on two occasions.

As a team, the Blugolds racked up 1,677 points to 1,648 for their opponents, and averaged 79.95 markers per game.

Zornmen Win 4 In Late Periods

The 1959 Blugold golf team climaxed a highly successful season with a sixth place finish in the state meet held May 25 at Green Lake.

During the regular season, Eau Claire compiled a 7-2 record in matches and triangular meets. The wins included three victories over River Falls.

The only losses were at the hands of LaCrosse, the defending state champions, and Michigan Mines in the last two matches before the state meet.

Team members were Herb Brown, Dick Green, Dick Hanson, Fran Von Schrader, Jerry Bass, Mal Sleen and Bill Goldsmith.

Spring Sports Have Short

Coach Bill Zorn's thinclads finished in last place in three conference meets, and then dropped out of the state tournament, because of Zorn's decision that the quality of the teams entered in the meet was much greater than that possessed by the Eau Claire team.

The squad opened on April 15 with 15 points at the River Falls-St. Thomas triangular meet, dropped to 8½ points at the LaCrosse triangular tourney, and closed with 20 points against Winona and River Falls.

The Eau Claire tennis team, under the direction of Coach Ade Olson, closed the 1959 season with a fourth place showing at the state meet held May 25 at Oshkosh.

Although plagued by scheduling problems, the Blugolds scored easy wins in the three matches they played before the state meet.

During the season, Stout went down to defeat twice, 8-1 and 7-2, but River Falls was whipped by the Blugolds, 8-1.

Team members were Bill Elstran, Tom Lee, Ray Cashoon, John Grimmer, Harry Loomer, Bob Lane and Terry Schwantes.

Yet Successful Season....

BLUGOLD NINE POSTS 6-4 RECORD TIES FOR WSCC CHAMPIONSHIP

The Blugold baseballers finished a tie with Stevens Point for the WSCC championship. The Pointers had won the title in the southern division, while Eau Claire copped the honors in the northern part with a record of 6-4. A play-off was impossible because of a combination of rain and tests.

Eau Claire had a string of four straight double-header splits before going into a sudden-death twin bill with the LaCrosse Indians at Carson Park. Coach Jim Rice needed two wins for a tie with the Indians in the northern division, and he got them both, courtesy of Dennis O'Melia, a thin southpaw.

Denny went the distance in both games, winning the first one, 9-5, and then hurling a 5-0 shutout victory in the all-important second contest.

In the play-off contest, Bill DuBrava and Bob Ringlien shared the duties and Eau Claire came away with a 7-3 win.

The blue and gold opened the season with a non-conference split with Stevens Point, 11-10 and 7-0 in an abrupt five-inning game. In the first conference action, O'Melia lost to the LaCrosse team, but Ringlien came through to gain a split.

River Falls was next on the EC agenda, and both contests were wide open affairs with the Blugolds winning the first one, 12-2, and then losing, 15-9. In another non-conference bill the reserves split at Winona.

Stout was the last team on the Eau Claire schedule to chip in with a win and a loss. The Blugolds won the opener, 5-3 and dropped the nightcap, 7-0.

Heading the Letter Club this year were Chuck Nyberg, President; Roger Hedrington, Vice-President; and Dick Anderson, Secretary.

The Letter Club is composed of students in good scholastic standing who have earned a major or minor E in the participation of one or more sports at WSCEC. These sports in which an E can be earned are football, basketball, baseball, track, golf, and tennis.

The primary purpose of the organization is to promote interest in athletics and foster all-around good sportsmanship.

Efforts For "E's"

Lack Of Snow Hampers Ski Team

One important tournament — Acceptance into the Minnesota - Wisconsin Ski Conference — Cold weather, sorely lacking in snow cover — Competing with top-notch teams — Young prospects, giving Eau Claire respectable ski plans for coming seasons.

These various factors seem to exemplify the 1958-'59 ski season at WSCEC — with its disappointing lack of adequate snow cover, but marginal gains in the furtherance of Eau Claire's reputation and the development of the ski program.

In the latter part of February, the Eau Claire squad, composed of six members; Steve Meyer, Gary Herum, Paul Murphy, Joe Grinner, Tom Kassabaum, and Darrell Holubetz, participated in the Central United States Championships at Duluth. Holubetz, by the way, was the lone member of the team who had had any experience in competition.

The tourney, won by Houghton, Michigan for the second year straight, decided the representative to be sent to the National Intercollegiate Meet in Winter Park in March. Finishing fourth in the meet, Eau Claire was hampered by the loss of three key men because of graduation or injury.

*See

WELL you see, it was like this . . .

President Darrell Holubetz prepares for a downhill run.

Members take time out after some frosty fun on the slopes at Deepwood.

A love for skiing is the lone requirement for membership in the WSCEC Ski Club. The ski club is an entirely recreational organization, its primary purpose being the promotion of skiing for all students and faculty, helping them to learn and improve their ski techniques.

This year, the number of ski enthusiasts who entered the club tipped the one hundred mark. A large number of them went on the club's big outing — a three day trip to Porcupine Mountain in Michigan.

Often during the year small groups of members spent weekends at various ski resorts, reporting back to the club the snow conditions and other pertinent information.

This year the ski club attended a joint meeting with Stout, and River Falls at Deepwood, near Colfax, joining ski enthusiasts from other state colleges in the area.

Besides fostering skiing among its members, the Ski Club, in co-operation with the athletic department, sponsor the WSCEC Ski Team which enters competition throughout the northern part of the United States.

1959 Square Steppers

Stepping Out

A two hour show for all students and the public highlighted the 1958-'59 Square Stepper's year. The program, presented in May, was only one of the undertakings for this active organization. The Square Steppers also provided half time entertainment at several basketball and football games during the year, at the Eau Claire Speech Meet, and at a Freshman Convocation.

Performances, however, were not restricted to the Eau Claire area, for the group danced at a banquet in Cornell and twice at the Veterans' Hospital in Tomah.

The Women's Recreation Association, an organization designed to stimulate interest and participation in sports and recreational activities, to encourage habits of physical activity, and to promote ideals of sportsmanship, witnessed another active year.

During the regular meetings the members have the opportunity to try their hand at such activities as volleyball, variety dancing, stunts and tumbling, trampolining, basketball, badminton, bowling, archery, tennis, and softball.

Since camping is a favorite activity, the group again took its winter camping trip to Camp Nicolet at Eagle River, Wisconsin. The Red Cedar River canoe and camping trip was another highlight.

Officers for this year were: President, Marlene Parkhurst; Vice-President, Pat Kusmirek; Secretary, Marian Gobar; Treasurer, Sylvia Larsen; Camping Chairman, Deanna Boese.

"Try your luck" was the call at the Copper Carnival. The Copper Carnival is an annual event put on each Fall by the W.R.A.

Intramural Sports

Looks like a score against the faculty.

Oh well, it was a good thought.

Coach Rice finished his second year of intramural sports at WSCEC with a successful B.B. program. Twenty-four teams turned out and were divided into three leagues, each playing on separate nights. The Boogiemen captured the Tuesday night league, the Red Raiders took over on Wednesday night, and the Lettermen were the champs on Thursday night. The final playoffs ended with the Puds defeating the Red Raiders for the championship.

Pi Delta Epsilon

Master of ceremonies, John Durand, adds a note of humor at the annual publications banquet.

Pi Delta Epsilon is an honorary journalism fraternity designed to promote the cause of journalism on campus, to honor student journalists and to foster fraternal spirit among its members.

To meet the requirements for this organization a student must be in the upper half of his class in grade point average, be active in Spectator, Periscope, or Tatler activities, and have a sophomore standing.

A special banquet for the members and all students active in publications at which awards are given climaxes the year for this organization.

This group, a member of the oldest national honorary journalism fraternity in the United States, was established at this college in 1956. Mr. Lee Hench is advisor of the group.

New officers for next year are Kathie Kidd, Cathy MacKay, John Durand, Andy Birt and Bonnie Milfred.

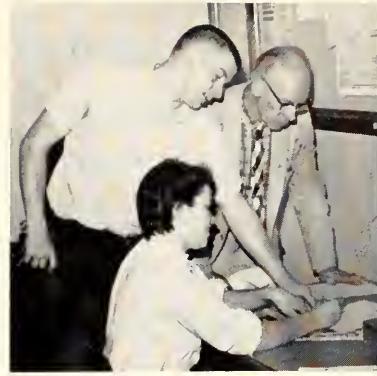

Students carry on a lively discussion at the Pi Delta Epsilon sponsored "Coffee . . . Grounds for Discussion."

Observations Of The Spectator....

Some of the most eventful changes in the college paper's 37-year history occurred this year as the SPECTATOR began to wake up and flex its proverbial muscles.

Getting on its feet the first semester, the entire staff was ready to roll when Bob Mickelson handed the editorial reins over to John Durand the second semester. Many of the ranking editors and reporters had attended the Associated College Press National Convention in Chicago in November and had returned with new ideas and new determination.

Receiving a second class ranking from ACP, the SPECTATOR went on to cop the Medalist Award from Columbia Scholastic Press Association and a first class rating from the State College Publications Association judges at a Stout press conference.

In an attempt to come out weekly, the staff introduced several extra issues. During the entire month of May, the staff was able to do this as a result of Student Government allocations made to the newspaper.

The Publication's Banquet, climaxing the year's publications activities, honored the staffs of the newspaper and yearbook. Outstanding reporters and editors were cited at the affair and next year's editor was named.

The Periscope, reaching toward its golden anniversary of campus publication, has worked this year on the introduction of several factors in yearbook make up. Such features as two page spreads, a new academic section, and two heads, a major and a secondary were inaugurated in the 1959 Periscope.

Such conventions as the Annual Press Association Conference at Chicago and the Stout Press Conference gave the staff an opportunity to see how other yearbooks are put together and the particular methods used in this operation.

Choir

"Harmony Plus" has been the theme of the music department at WSCEC since 1944, when its organization first began. Five musical organizations now work together harmoniously to produce music on the campus. The choir, male and female voices under the baton of Professor Caldwell Johnson, was initiated on the campus in 1947. This year's choir members traveled to Winnipeg, Canada with the band, after which they aided in the presentation of the annual Home Band and Choir Concert. In co-operation with the orchestra, the choir also presented Handel's oratorio "The Messiah" at Christmas time, and the fourth Annual Festival of Contemporary Music in April.

Scherzo Club

Enthusiasm is the spirit exhibited by the Scherzo Club at WSCEC. This social organization for all students with any musical interests was organized in 1949. Any student may participate in the club, the only requirement for membership is an active interest in music and a 2.3 grade point. The club sponsors musical events on campus, social events, receptions, and presents recitals.

Musicianship Plus

Musicianship plus resulted in many delightful presentations of classical music by the college orchestra this year. In 1946, the first orchestra was organized in Chippe-wa Valley. Now it is under the college direction, and is composed of college students, faculty members, and the townspeople.

This year, under the direction of Professor Walter May, the group presented a concert in the fall, and the fourth Annual Young People's Concert in May. They also participated in the "Messiah" and in the Contemporary Music Festival.

On Stage

Highlighting another highly successful theatre year at WSCEC were five presentations under the direction of Mr. Earl Kjer, Mr. Lester Gilbertson, and Mr. Richard James, technical director.

The first of the five plays presented in the Little Theatre starred James Trimble in the role of Anthony J. Drexel Biddle in the production the "Happiest Millionaire" by Kyle Crichton. This two act comedy, running for three nights, concerned the lives of a wealthy and somewhat eccentric Philadelphia family.

This seemingly uncomplicated comedy proved quite a contrast to the next play, "Tiger at the Gates" which contained within its two acts many humorous moments, but this time on a more philosophical level of approach. The play, written by Jean Giraudoux and translated by Christopher Fry, starred again in the lead, James Trimble.

Splitting the play season in half was a trip made by eighteen members of the College Players to Chicago to see a series of plays and shows. Traveling with the group on the four-day trip were directors: Kjer, James, and Gilbertson.

A dramatic scene from the second production of the year "Tiger at the Gates."

The play season continued in the latter half of March with a three act contemporary comedy by James Thurber. The play centered around the question of whether a college professor has the right to introduce alien theories or ideas into the classroom. "Male Animal" starred Jack MacNamara as the Midwest college professor caught in these developments. Mr. Lester Gilbertson directed the play which was staged five nights; construction was supplied under the direction of Mr. James.

Concluding the 1958-59 theatrical year was the "Devil's Disciple," a satire by George Bernard Shaw which ran four nights. John Figmiller and Dave Leisses captured leading roles in the show.

A fight sequence is closely watched by other members of the company of "The Happiest Millionaire."

Highlighting a year's work in theatre activity was the annual dramatics banquet. Shown here are several students who have been active in the various stage productions.

The roaring 20's returned to Eau Claire this year with the college production of "The Boy Friend." The action portrays the "perfect young ladies" of Madame Dubonnet's fashionable finishing school. Gay numbers such as "Don't Want to Play with Me Blues" and "It's Never Too Late to Fall in Love" were interspersed in the swift moving musical.

They Form America's Opinions

A spokesman for Northwestern University states, "In a democracy whose very existence depends upon an intelligent electorate, the men and women journalists of our country serve a function more vital than any other profession." Actually, most of what America's 161 million people know of world, national, state, and local affairs is learned from newspapers, radios, television, and magazines; therefore the journalists' importance is almost unsurpassed in the field of communication and in the formation of public opinion. Students seeking entrance in this profession are prepared in this capacity by the Journalism Department of WSCEC.

College students find, probably for the first time in their careers, the need for good reference material. The WSCEC library, containing several thousand volumes of specialized material, is staffed by several students and faculty members who, through training in library science, can better aid the student in his exploits for material.

How Well Do You Know

To know others and through this attainment, come to self-knowledge, is the primary goal of three WSCEC departments — the sociology, psychology, and philosophy.

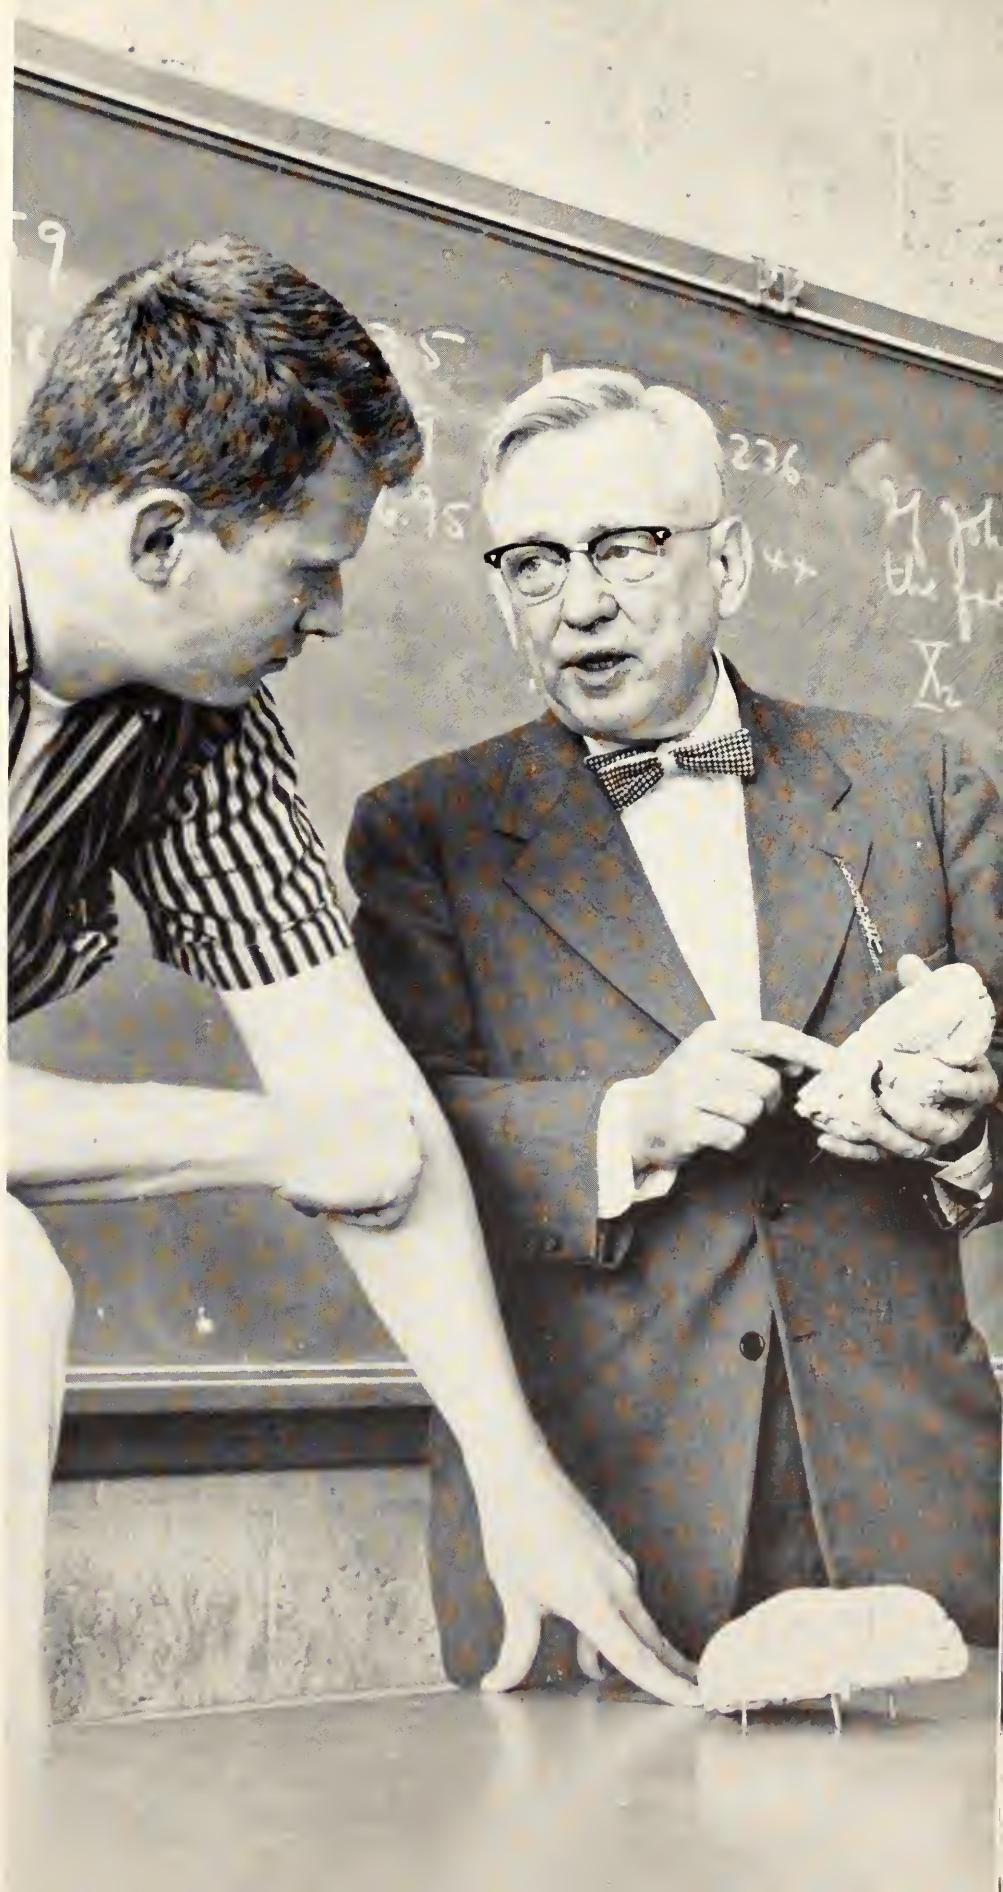

In searching for the answers to these greatest of life's questions, the student comes to know others, his own capabilities, and the purpose for his existence.

Voltaire said, concerning philosophy, "The discovery of what is true and the practice of that which is good are two of the most important objectives of philosophy." Yet while most people consider the philosopher as somewhat of an abstract creature and quite unearthly in his makeup, Shakespeare said in "Much Ado About Nothing," "There has never yet been a philosopher who could endure a toothache patiently." Philosophy then, is not the idea of the attainment of all goals, but rather the ways things are met on the way.

Not only are these goals apparent in the department of philosophy, but they also prevail in the sociology and psychology areas as well. In a society such as we have built up today, the mass tends to receive the greatest portion of consideration. But through such courses as anthropology, man and society, and in particular the study of such things as sensation, thinking, and personality traits, the student is brought to the realization of his own individual worth — this is the purpose of these three academic areas.

*The Cuban Revolt Was As Important To Us
As It Was To Castro!*

Such significant events as the Cuban revolt or DeGaulles resemblance of France's monetary system are as important to economists as they are to the people directly involved in the situation. The former know, through the study of events of this nature, the great consequence they may later play on the economic stability or instability of the entire world.

Conant Says,

"Study A Language"

In a recent study conducted by Dr. James B. Conant, national educator, the importance of the study of a foreign language is stressed emphatically. The study stated that four year courses in a language should be offered to the high school student, and later, an extensive college program should be conducted along the same line.

WSCEC offers a comprehensive course of study in three foreign languages — French, German, and Spanish. The beginning student studies the particular language through oral conversation, through written lessons, and also through the use of a tape recording machine. More advanced study of the language is made through such media as the country's literature, culture and history.

The philosophical idea that "to know thyself is the purpose in life" is attributed to the Athenian philosopher, Socrates. This famed Grecian sage in his statement concerning self-knowledge, expresses one of the goals of the Humanities Department at WSC EC. Humanities students seek to better understand their surroundings through the comprehensive study of art, music, and literature as it progressed through such styles as Classicism, Romanticism, Realism, and Impressionism.

Europeans Are Healthier Than We Are

I

The importance of good physical health has been demonstrated to the public by a recent study conducted by the United States government. This study concerned the problem of the physical fitness of the young people of this country. Striking results were shown — European children taking the same test scored high above the average for American children.

The WSCEC physical education department, concerned with this problem, requires all students to take two years of instruction in this field before receiving their diploma. Perhaps through such efforts as this, the next study will show more favorable results concerning our physical fitness.

"We're Looking For People Who Like To Draw"

This statement, frequently seen in many national magazine articles, does not have to be written by Jan Whitcomb or Norman Rockwell; it could come from one of the art faculty members of WSCEC.

Also the articles state, "There are calls from art buyers all over the United States asking for practical, well-trained students — not geniuses — who can step into key positions." By this statement, the importance of experience over sheer genius is stressed. This experience and training is available to the WSCEC students through the many art courses offered.

Natural Science, one of the broader fields of study at WSCEC, finds both general and elementary students enrolled in its introductory courses. Several aspects of physical and biological science relate to students their relationship to modern society. Students with limited interests in such fields as astronomy, geology, chemistry, physics, meteorology, and atomic phenomena find new concepts quite palatable to their intellectual curiosity.

Have you ever wondered why there is such an occurrence as night? or what water is? or why there are mountains? or why people don't fall off the earth as it rotates?

These same questions were asked by geography students at WSCEC, but with one striking difference than when pondered by the average layman — they found the answers out for themselves. This was through careful study and application of the basic principles of the course.

Science Study

Chemistry is the science that treats of the composition of substances, and of the transformations which they undergo. This department offers courses in the study of organic chemistry, inorganic chemistry, theoretical chemistry, the general survey of chemistry, and physical chemistry. A quantitative study of the relations between chemical and physical properties of substances and their constitution, and biochemistry, dealing with the chemical compounds and processes occurring in organisms are also offered.

Physics is usually held to comprise the closely related sciences of mechanics, heat, electricity, light, and sound, and the branches of science devoted to the study of radiation and atomic structure. The Physics Department thoroughly covers all of these areas in detail. General, advanced, and modern physics are several aspects of the Physics Department.

"BUBBLE, BUBBLE, TOIL AND TROUBLE . . ." These words seem to exemplify the expression on the faces of two beginning chemistry students as they ponder this complex yet rewarding science.

Biology is not all smells and test tubes; many seemingly small projects prove fascinating to students engaged in this study.

Gathering leaves is not all child's play — especially is this true for biology students at WSCEC; the various specimens are collected by these future biologists to gain further introspective knowledge in this study.

Biology is the science of life and living organisms. This department offers courses which include many phases of biology. Courses included are: zoology, botany, physiology, morphology, genetics, and embryology. Other courses imply the study of the principles of application to the origin, development, structure, functions, and distribution of plants and animals.

It'll be a shock if it works! Future Edisons such as the one pictured gain practical insight into the complex physical world by the use of various electric machines.

TO JOIN ILLUSTRIOS COMPANY
*Math And Drawing Students Joining
Kepler, Newton, And Einstein*

"The people who choose mathematics as a career will be joining illustrious company. They will become colleagues of Euclid, Descartes, and Gauss. They will be walking with the great Johannes Kepler who figured out the three laws that govern planets' movements around the sun; with Sir Isaac Newton who explained gravity in one mathematical formula; with Albert Einstein who postulated the magnificent theory of relativity that unlocked the atomic age." — thus reads a recent article in a major national magazine.

The field of mathematics is an expanding one, especially now in our atomic age. To meet the growing need for mathematicians our college offers a major in this course.

Mankind, now on the verge of the space age, will be guided by the future mathematicians to achievements far beyond the aspirations of scientists in the preceding centuries.

The drawing department at WSCEC offers two courses especially designed for future engineers. The first course, engineering drawing, includes the theory of orthogonal projection, free-hand sketching and reading of orthogonal problems, applied geometry, dimensioning, pictorial sketching and instrumental drawing. The second course is concerned with the theory and practices of dimensioning and offers practical experience in application of the fundamentals of point, line and plane problems in space.

What Does English Mean?

What does English mean to you? Perhaps a nationality, a language, or even, as in the case of some types of grammar study, Greek. This latter example is quite commonplace among many young composition students who struggle with predicate modifiers and comma splices.

Actually, in English each of these meanings is contained. Through the study of English, the student is given a better understanding of the mechanical and expressional functions involved. The student may share the sorrow of Poe, in his memorable "Annabel Lee;" the nonsense of Robert Burns' poems; the adventure of Tom Sawyer; and the inspirational lessons of Socrates through the media of written expression. He is also developed in his own writing skills so that he may be able to express himself clearly and accurately. Whatever meaning you attach to the word English, its importance is still to be maintained as one of the basic factors in our educational system.

The WSCEC speech department, concerned with studying the history of speech, as well as presenting audience performances, is composed of various phases of work. The forensics program, including debate, discussion, oratory, after-dinner speaking, and reading takes its students throughout the country to compete against some of the best speakers in the colleges of the United States. Stage work, acting, producing and directing are all phases of the drama program of the speech department. College sponsored productions exemplify the many student hours which go into work in the theatre. All phases of radio production are analyzed in the radio sequence of speech as students prepare programs for broadcasting. The world of make believe is contained therefore in WSCEC through its radio, forensics, and drama departments all correlated into one speech program.

Speak For Yourself...

"Hell Is Full Of Musical Amateurs"

G. B. SHAW — MAN AND SUPERMAN

When the master of satire George Bernard Shaw used this explosive statement in his play "Man and Superman" it tended to condemn those who were not talented in this creative area. It is the job of the music faculty at WSCEC to attempt to raise the music student above the level of amateur. The variety of courses available offers the student the opportunity to develop his musical ability in many fields: composition, directing, band, vocal groups, to a full symphony orchestra.

During the year works of such great composers as Beethoven, Bach, Brahms, and Handel were presented by the College Symphony Orchestra. Music of many types, both sacred and secular in nature, composed the large repertoire of the college choir. The band presented overtures, chorales, marches, and novelties during its year's work.

Confucius once said, "The cautious seldom err," but today's history scholars find many contradictions to this proverb. The analysis of past mistakes, in order to bring improvement in the future, is one of the predominant tasks of the history student in our American educational system.

WSCEC History Department offers an extensive variety of courses suited for its students. Courses range from the study of Western Civilization or English History in the freshman year, to more advanced courses in Wisconsin History or Scandinavian History. Through the study of these many phases of world history, the student has a better understanding of the events in preceding centuries. Also through this study, the student can learn of past mistakes and in profiting from them, prepare for the future.

Problems...Past and Present

Profiles In Courage, a recent best-selling book by Senator John Kennedy states that "Our national character will determine whether our legislators will be courageous or cowardly, and our polities good or bad."

Courses in political science at WSCEC are inclined to teach young people the value of a sound government and the responsibility each person has concerning this goal. Students are also taught that this sound government is based on national character; therefore before there can be character and courage in congress, there must be a great deal of it in American people.

Our governments, functioning from national positions to that on the local scale, will become the responsibility of today's college students. The American educational system, included in this is, of course, our college, is engaged in the preparation of our citizens for their future duties in governmental and administrative work.

To teach students to teach is the goal expressed by the faculty segment of the education department at WSCEC. With the pronounced statistical shortage of teachers in both elementary and secondary education facing young high school graduates today, more are inclined to pursue this field of study. Each year WSCEC's education department is building a stronger foundation by offering more majors and lengthening the hours needed for major and minor degree qualifications.

Back again for that last game — homecoming is one of the traditional events of the year on the campus at Wisconsin at Eau Claire in which the students, faculty, and the alumni take part and renew old friendships.

The activities are opened by the enthusiastic cheerleaders at the Pep Assembly rousing the spirits of the students, faculty, and the alumni for the coming events of the week. It is the tradition of the campus to have these activities celebrating the event of the last home football game of the year. The campus is buzzing with activity for the week. The freshmen have gathered materials for a huge bonfire and they guard it diligently while at the same time the sophomores are trying their best to burn it without being detected by the freshmen. At the bonfire there is a tug-of-war between the freshmen and the upperclassmen. One of the annual events is the burning of the beanies that the freshmen have been wearing for the two weeks prior to the homecoming activities.

men and women have much to offer to the college student and their practical experience and capabilities are useful in adding to give a fuller and more realistic picture of the world today.

Contestants line up for the judging of the beard growing contest; Bob Baker, Jim Kalka and Dave Springer were top growers.

The snow was snowing, actually snowing for the fourth annual Winter Carnival to be held at Eau Claire State. "Frostivities" began with a hayride and the crowning of the king and queen at the Sock Hop. "Club Four" was the theme of the annual Stunt Night sponsored by the Young Republicans at which winners of the beard-growing, hair-styling and skit contests were announced. Winners were the Phi Sigma Epsilon dancers for their most unusual skit, Fran Fisher for her snowman hair style and Bob Baker for his beard growth.

Then as the shadows lengthened on the mounds of white snow and the fresh art work, preparation for the formal dance began.

Revival Of The

King John Durand and Queen Marlene Splatt are attired in bedsheet togas as they reign over the first Greek Week.

Startled glances and turning heads followed figures robed in Grecian Togas. A sudden enrollment of Greek students? A visit by ghosts of past eras about to haunt Eau Claire's halls? Well, the answer is the celebration of Eau Claire's first Greek Week. This event has been the dream of Eau Claire's growing number of sororities and fraternities, and now that dream has become a reality. The revival of the Greek Age will be one of the major events in the coming years.

Greek Week

Representatives from all sororities and fraternities partake in one of the extremely strenuous Olympic Games.

These Gamma Sigma Sigma banquet diners seemed to enjoy this ancient mode of eating as they attend the Greek Week banquet.

Golden Age

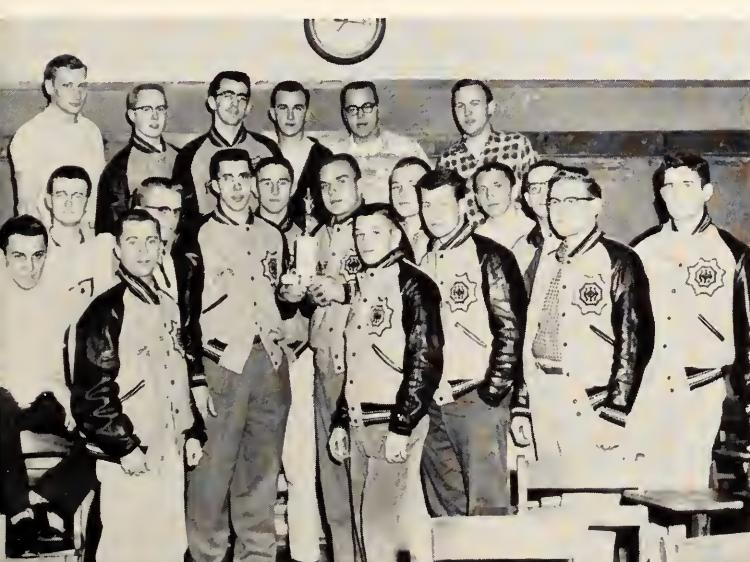

Man, this is really living! Must have been fun to live in the old days.

Do or die! This might have been the motto of each Greek organization on campus as they put forth every effort and mustered the help of every member to earn the coveted trophy. Each day presented some new obstacle. When the scavenger hunt lists were published Monday morning, many members shook their heads in disbelief, but then the ingenuity of these talented people began to start production lines rolling and soon items like an ice cube, half green and half red, soon turned into a reality. Some had turned in all the items before the weekend dead line. Each day brought new problems: how to carry a lighted candle between classes with many willing blowing winds about, how to drape the folds of a bedsheet into a Grecian toga, and how not to clunk a baseball bat and ball on a classroom floor. Muscle power as well as mind power was used during the chariot (non-running car) races. Brave souls ventured out in a soft rain to play a new Greek contest — softball. The publicity as well as the fun convinced Greek members that this Greek Week should become an annual occurrence.

Muscles strain and puffs and groans are heard during the exciting chariot races.

With a hard-earned total of 330 points the Eta Phi fraternity copped the beautiful traveling Greek Week trophy.

It seems like years ago that this ground breaking ceremony began work on the new College Center.

A Step Into The Future

The New College Center

A long-awaited dream becomes a reality. Anxious eyes followed every step in the growth of the New College Center. Careful plans were made, many discussions were held, visits to other college unions preceded the actual work of building the new union. Then the big machinery roared and tons of earth were moved and loaded, construction material was piled high and the actual construction phase began. But before construction was underway, committees were formed to determine the policy and rules to be administered in the new union. Sleek designing and beautiful furniture were to be an important part of this step into the future. Obstacles arose, sometimes delaying work somewhat, but progress continued on.

"First A Beginning"

Dorothy Erdman, Professor Gilbertson and Center Director Clayton Anderson seem to have a difficult problem to solve.

Union Director, Clayton Anderson seems happy and content in his new capacity.

Does that metal animal really eat dirt?

The foundation is being laid and the College Center is in the first stages of the building.

The workmen are busily building the walls of the new College Center.

The wall of Old Main is torn out for the building of the tunnel that is to be placed between it and the new College Center.

"From Old To New"

The building of the tunnel is in progress that will be between the two buildings.

Jim Watson and John Mc Innis, helpers, are taking a break and eating their lunch.

The roof of the new College Center is being laid and the walls are being constructed.

The work on the inside of the College Center is in progress and the floors are being laid.

After the many months of difficult and frustrating work the new College Center is seeing its final stages and really taking on the appearance of a truly beautiful building.

Clayton Anderson, Center Director, conducts a tour of the unfinished building for three WSCEC faculty members.

Here we see the final steps in the construction of the new College Center. The building is now completely finished and all the furniture and facilities have been installed for the use and enjoyment of all who will be using it. Many problems were encountered before the structure was opened but it is truly an addition to the campus of which all can be proud.

And Then - At Last!

Moonglow At Midnight

Queen Helene Johnson and King Jerry Stoflet reign over the 1959 Junior Prom.

Junior Prom

“Moonglow,” the 1959 Junior Prom, included three new events this year; a parade, a concert and a post-prom dinner. The prom parade started the weekend with the king and queen and their attendants escorted by the band parading through downtown Eau Claire. Another innovation of this year’s prom was a concert by the visiting orchestra before the dance. Bobby Christian, often billed as “Mr. Percussion,” played some of his latest Mercury releases. Immediately following the prom the college’s first post-prom dinner was held in the Holiday Room of the Hotel Eau Claire.

Queen Helene Johnson, King Jerry Stoflet and attendants Shirley Bollman, John Durand, Mary Holman, Frank Wendt, Dorothy Erdman and Chuck Mandelert lead the Grand March.

Jack Pingel and Charley Bush entertained the crowd during a brief intermission.

Preparation

"For me?" Miss Wing issues caps and gowns to seniors for the big day.

The reception line welcomed many guests to the new College Center at the President's Reception.

Seniors march from the second floor to the auditorium to hear Miss Southerland's address, "We pledge . . . Our Sacred Honor."

Paying fees, picking up caps and gowns, receiving instructions, the President's Reception, honors day . . . all part of the preparation for the graduation of 204 WSCEC seniors. The President's Reception for graduating seniors was the first event to be held in the new College Center and gave the seniors an opportunity to tour the new structure before departing from the campus. Miss Sutherland delivered the keynote address at the Honors Day Convocation and Dean Leonard Haas presented the honors.

The realization of the big day comes when the seniors begin their march from Old Main to the gym.

Faculty members join in the processional.

Evaluation....

"The Vision of Excellence" was the theme of the forty-third annual commencement delivered by Dr. D. Elton Trueblood, Professor of Philosophy at Earlham College, Richmond, Indiana. A thought-provoking speech, well delivered, set the senior class and the audience to evaluating their preparedness for the future. Dr. Leonard Haas presented the class following the address after which President W. R. Davies presented the diplomas.
